Annual Report

Who are we?

Hungarian Interchurch Aid (HIA), established in 1991, is one of the most significant and internationally recognized Hungarian charity organisations. The collaborative effort of the founding churches now supports those in crisis or in need as an ever-growing community of professionals, volunteers, donors and corporate social responsibility partners.

HIA works to the most stringent professional and transparency standards, and provides aid to beneficiaries with no discrimination in terms of ethnic origin, beliefs or religion, not only in Hungary or in the Carpathian Basin, but also in several other countries in the world.

Welcome

FOOD to starving people,
HOME for the homeless,
CHANCES for the deprived!

Every aspect of the slogan summing up HIA's objectives is filled with content and coming to life on these colourful pages of our redesigned annual report. As the events of 2012 are reviewed, not only the figures, images and stories summing up our efforts would bring the comings and goings of providing aid, but the underlying, living and ever-growing community is also outlined. This community crosses borders, sectors and generations, interwoven by love and initiative. Some by giving a call to the donation line, some by regular donations, some in the role of volunteers or partners, some professionally, but all members of the HIA community actively contribute to our shared objectives, each their own way.

I would also like to take this opportunity to thank everyone who joined our efforts in 2012, and if this publication is your first encounter with our work, please take it as an invitation: there is space for more and there are further things to do in the Hungarian Interchurch Aid community!

Food to starving people!

Our institutions and special actions have provided tangible assistance to hundreds of thousands of families in need.

KILOGRAMS OF FOOD IN EACH STANDARD PACKAGE

Hungarian Interchurch Aid has partnered with the EU Food Aid Programme, in collaboration with the Agricultural and Rural Development Agency (MVH), for the seventh time. The 15-kg standard packages contained flour, pasta, vitamins, biscuits and cocoa drinks.

↑ The national programme provided standard packages to families and pensioners living below the poverty line.

Meals served, not only on special days

Our countrywide network of centres provides meals to hundreds of people on a daily basis. In 2012, this assistance type was highlighted by a record number of special events where meals were served to those in need.

↑ Temporary meal centres were set up for several days; hot meals were provided in the coldest period of winter; tea and blankets were also life-savers.

↑ In the days running up to Christmas, more than 10,000 portions of hot meals were served by HIA staff and volunteers.

↑ HIA opened a soup kitchen in Gyula, providing a service sorely missed before with more than 30,000 meals served per year.

How the National Help Centre helps

16,950

AID PACKAGES DELIVERED

24,043

FAMILIES HELPED

Individual requests for assistance received by our organisation are managed by a dedicated institution, the so-called National Help Centre. The staff individually reviews every request and apply pre-defined principles when determining the most efficient form of assistance.

Starting the school together!

At the start of the school year, packages with high-quality school supplies were provided to 1,000 children in need. The objective with this effort is that the start of school would mean hope for a better future for even the poorest families and not further debt and impoverishment.

Home for the homeless!

More than a shelter, here and now. Comprehensive assistance for moving on.

Our residential institutions provide tailored support to those who lost their homes. A highlighted objective is to keep families together even in the deepest crisis and give them every support for moving on.

The objective is to strengthen the families

The number of our temporary family shelters grew to 4, they are operated in Budapest, Miskolc, Orosháza, and Szolnok. These institutions aim at assisting families who lost their homes to stay together and to move on.

432

PARENTS AND CHILDREN
WERE PROVIDED WITH TEMPORARY ACCOMMODATION.

The temporary shelters and halfway homes gave 200 families the opportunity in 2012 to build up long-term strength.

Our shelter was launched in 2012 to accommodate mothers and their children running away from abuse. The shelter provides safety and comprehensive services. Our professional staff assist in processing the trauma and in moving on.

↓ While the shelters are run with strict policies applied, disadvantaged children can enjoy the experience of the community through several fun programmes.

↑ Responsibility and awareness of the environment: on Earth Day, residents of the temporary shelters cleaned up together their immediate and wider environment.

Tailored assistance for survival and moving on

The organisation runs centres supporting homeless people in 2 major cities in the country, in Debrecen and in Gyula.

1,000

HOMELESS PEOPLE HELPED

Our centre provide not only a warm space, food and access to shower facilities, but more: tailored assistance and advice in dealing with everyday matters and in finding a job.

In 2012, the street and the micro-regional contact services provided regular assistance not only to those living in the streets but also to people living in distant farms or at the edge of the cities, in small tent-like shacks.

↓ Our centre in Gyula provides homeless people with a set of services unique in the county: soup kitchen, shelter...

↑ The Debrecen HIA centre celebrated its 20th birthday in 2012. The daytime shelter operated at the centre provides assistance in 55,000 cases per annum, while the staff at the street contact service, after seven years, register 3,700 hours in the field every year.

Chances for the deprived!

Lift-off points from poverty.
With courage and a joint effort.

HIA is set to provide not only temporary assistance or shelter to those in need. In all fields of activity, our objective is to provide true lift-off points for those who are ready and willing to take action to change their lives for the better. In line with that philosophy, 2012 also saw special emphasis laid on development of disadvantaged children and on assisting unemployed adults to return to work.

Tesco "Charity of the Year" Programme
www.hia.hu/coty

↑ Sponsored by the Tesco "Charity of the Year" programme, HIA supported the development of 200 children in need by providing regular tailored individual and group activities at its centres. One of the climaxes of the programme was a storytelling session with stars at our Family Assistance Centre in Soroksár on World Book Day.

↑ Coaching under the Olaszliszka After-School Programme. 80 school-age children receive assistance with their studies here on a daily basis.

EXPERIENCE PASSED ON

↑ The Miskolc centre as a national methodological centre assisted 120 other institutions. At the annual conference, Balázs Rácsok, the head of the centre explains how the period spent at the temporary shelter may be used for personal growth, for lift-off from poverty.

FUNDING PASSED ON

↑ László Lehel announces a block grant worth HUF 200 million in a joint programme of HIA and Velux Foundations. The name of the block grant is "TANDEM", referring to the all-out presence of co-operation.

Opening Pathways to Work

39.5% OF

PROGRAMME PARTICIPANTS HAVE SUCCESSFULLY FOUND EMPLOYMENT

↑ HIA's HR conference scheduled to coincide with the International Day for the Eradication of Poverty gave a new impetus to cross-sectoral cooperation to combat unemployment.

2012 included some milestones in HIA's activities aimed at the labour market: Our Budapest programme to support young job-seekers was re-established as a new institution with the name "Ygen Human Resources Centre". The unique services provided by the centre provide long-term assistance free of charge to a hundred people annually in finding employment.

"In our view, the most efficient means of eradicating poverty is work. It is not enough to establish opportunities, we need to make people capable of using those opportunities and return to work permanently."

From the opening address by László Lehel

Training programme from Miskolc to Beregszász

Our EU-funded labour-market programme assisted 130 disadvantaged people in the Miskolc region, and 580 people in need in the Transcarpathian region, respectively. The programme has the objective of facilitating the social reintegration of the unemployed, the disabled, the Roma minority, women returning to employment and early school leavers.

↑ Language courses, training programmes with IT skills and vocational courses open up better opportunities in the labour market.

Help for addicts

A very rarely highlighted but hugely important field in equality is to help people leave their addiction behind. Our centres provide comprehensive assistance to addicts at 4 locations in Hungary.

↑ HIA had a booth at the Campus Festival in Debrecen: 18 volunteers manned the booth, providing tailored advice on the prevention and treatment of addiction.

Unity in times of trouble

Efficient assistance. From the crisis to the point of a new start.

Although Hungary escaped major floods in 2012, the freezing cold in February again required extraordinary unity. Several development projects continued at the site of the 2010 red sludge disaster.

The cold period was an extraordinary trial for those living in the streets and in the periphery. The blankets and sleeping bags handed out, the hot tea and the daily hot meals offered at the soup kitchens saved lives.

Our crisis centre was open 24 hours a day in Csepel. The facility for sixty people was accommodating homeless people to escape the freezing cold in February. Our centres in the country for the support of homeless people were operating beyond capacity, while staff with the reinforced contact service did their best for the survival of those living in the streets.

These figures illustrate the level of the unified effort behind HIA's work in the winter cold.

↑ Staff at our Gyula centre visited the huts at the homesteads and forests several times a day to take drinking water, food, clothing and blankets to them.

↑ The incoming donations allowed HIA to provide 70 families with firewood, while packages with food and clothing were also handed out to people relying on us.

↑ At Beregszász, in the Transcarpathian region and the surrounding villages, 50 poor families received a month's supply of wood briquettes.

Remembrance and a new start in Kolontár

↑ Remembrance ceremony in the memorial park created at the site of the neighbourhood destroyed by the red sludge disaster.

↑ As a result of a joint effort by HIA and the Association of Innovative Pharmaceutical Manufacturers, the renovated community centre was extended with a number of new features.

Hungarian Assistance at 4 Continents

Cross-border solidarity: humanitarian assistance and international development

Haiti – School

Our rebuilding programme after the 2010 quake continued. In 2012 the second modern school was opened, rebuilt in co-operation with Finn Church Aid. The Abeilles d'Aspam school has 350 pupils, and it can provide shelter for 1248 people in case of hurricanes.

Transcarpathia – Job Creation

In the Beregszász region, assistance is provided through our local partner, Advance Transcarpathian Advocacy and Development Centre. Beside the joint long-term labour-market assistance programme, there were a number of other highlights in 2012. At the start of the school year and at Christmas, packages of school supplies and clothing were handed out to several hundred families, and as a result of a successful grant application with the Hungarian Ministry of Foreign Affairs, aid valued HUF 11.2 million could be provided to the regional hospital in Beregszász in the form of life-saving medical equipment and the renovation of two wards.

Ethiopia – Safe Water

In continuation of the life-saving effort launched in 2011 after the drought affected millions in the region, support was provided to the cleaning of an ella (well) providing water to 2,500 people and the same number of animals in the southern part of the country in 2012. The project in the village of Gayo contributed not only to the supply of safe water and provided employment to locals, but it also helped the local school.

(Please see more details about the fundraising and awareness campaign related to the project on page 22.)

Transylvania – Support to Children

In line with the tradition, several visits were made in 2012 to the poor and orphaned children cared for by Lazarenum Foundation in Marosvásárhely. At the start of the school year, packages with school supplies were provided to more than 100 children, while at Christmas, not only the youngest generation benefitted from our efforts as HIA also brought presents to the residents of the local nursing home.

Japan – Day-Care Centre

Near the first anniversary of the quake and tsunami in Japan in 2011, a so-called gakudo was opened on 24 February, built with donations from Hungarians. The day-care centre in the city of Otsuchi was built and equipped jointly with HIA's local partner, Save the Children Japan.

Afghanistan – Food Aid

In Baghlan, between May and August 2012, 614 tons of food aid in total was distributed to 3600 families under the United Nations World Food Programme, in "work for food projects".

You Also Shape The World!

Volunteering, Awareness Raising, Community

How far would you go for a glass of water?

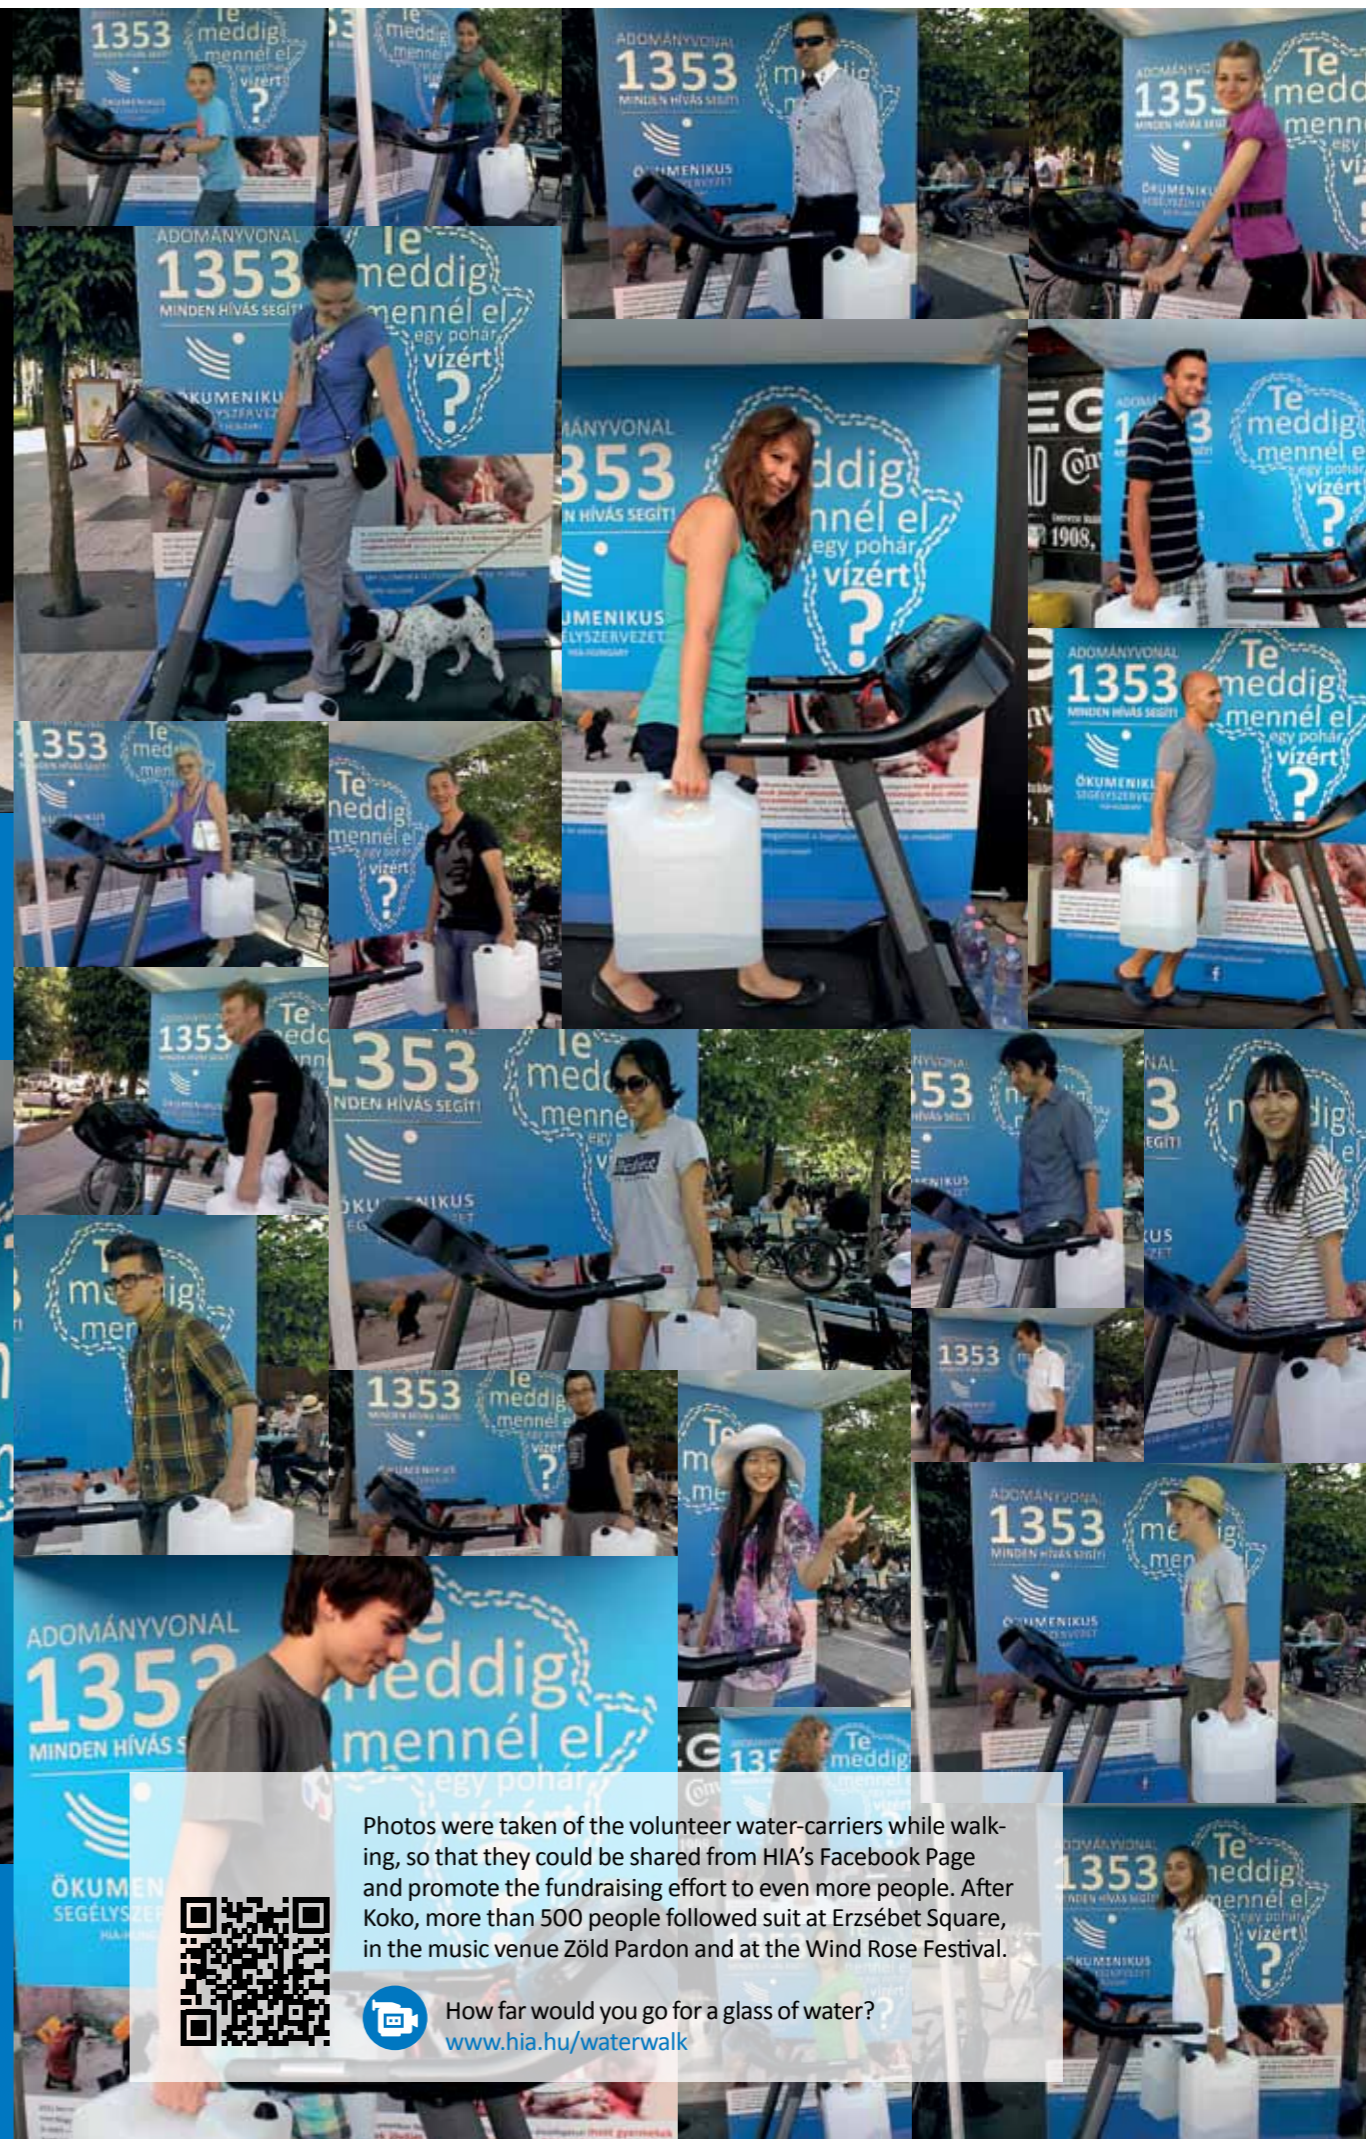

Linked to the fundraising effort for our aid programme in Ethiopia, an awareness raising campaign was also launched: using a running mill, anyone could experience how it feels when one needs to walk kilometres for the vital supply of water. This campaign was launched by István "Koko" Kovács who just returned from the site of the well-cleaning operation in Ethiopia.

"It was shocking to see that while here you can just simply open the tap and clean water starts running, in some parts of Ethiopia women and children walk 5 to 10 kilometres each day to provide the family with water."
István "Koko" Kovács

"I got on the running mill and walked on it with cans full of water, to encourage people to have a think how lucky we are as compared to millions of Africans," said Bebe, frontman of the music band Back2Black, who joined the campaign, himself being also of Ethiopian origin.

Photos were taken of the volunteer water-carriers while walking, so that they could be shared from HIA's Facebook Page and promote the fundraising effort to even more people. After Koko, more than 500 people followed suit at Erzsébet Square, in the music venue Zöld Pardon and at the Wind Rose Festival.

Versatile volunteering

Our events and awareness raising campaigns are now inconceivable without our volunteers

In 2012, a record number of new volunteers signed up to our efforts. The new volunteers take a training course where HIA's full-time employees and experienced volunteers give them an introduction to HIA and volunteering. Just like our work in general, the roles and tasks available to volunteers were also characterised by variety.

↑ During the extreme cold patch in the winter, more than 50 volunteers assisted in the operation of the 24/7 crisis centres.

↑ During the Advent season, almost 80 volunteers manned shifts for 6 weeks.

↑ Volunteers are treasured in the sessions and trips for children in the summer.

They help with us!

With more than just their names

Commitment and credibility.

Anikó Lévai and István "Koko" Kovács, HIA's goodwill ambassadors, provided their committed efforts also in 2012, in words and deeds.

↑ Singer Csaba Vastag joined our team of volunteers serving hot meals.

↑ Opera stars in an unusual role: Erika Miklósa and Domonkos Héja served mulled wine to contribute to the fundraising effort.

↑ Singers Ildikó Keresztes and Gergő Baricz assisted the delivery of the aid shipment to families in need in Transylvania.

↑ Kriszta D. Tóth, beside the meals appeals, also regularly participates in our events for children.

↑ Singer Kati Wolf, as the public face for the "Starting the school together!" appeal, also participated in fundraising and the distribution of the packages.

↑ The joint coupon appeal with Tesco was promoted by athletes experienced in breaking records: Koko was joined by Attila Katus, Miklós Ungvári, Gabriella Szabó, Rudolf Dombi, Roland Kökény and Richárd Osváth.

Corporate Social Responsibility

Sorely needed assistance and team-building at the same time

All programmes are run after meticulous planning and thorough preparations so that all participants could feel the elation from an effective and efficient effort by the end of the day. Employees can see each other in new light, so these programmes are also popular as team-building exercises.

↶ The huge GlaxoSmithKline team has renovated the surroundings of the Family Assistance and Child Welfare Service Centre in Soroksár.

↑ Elmű-Émász employees carried out some spectacular renovation in the Miskolc temporary family shelter.

↓ The volunteers of Novartis company did not only beautify the interior and the exterior of the facility but also provided some quality programmes for the residents.

Partner Community

Partners are helping, each in their own way

Together for a better world!

HIA has partnered up with several companies in Hungary for corporate social responsibility projects. Be it just fast-response aid appeals or long-term programmes running several years, all collaboration is based on shared values and interests, the most important of them being professionalism and transparency. We like to talk about our collaboration at any forum as we do believe that good examples serve as inspiration to others. Some of the examples:

↑ After Tesco's "Charity of the Year" programme, as part of another major appeal for families and children, the chain of stores raised HUF 54 million by selling donation coupons in the run up period to Christmas.

↑ E.ON led the way not only in donations but their unique light-painting also inspired others to donate.

↑ Elmű-Émász: The company supported not only the winter food distribution campaign and other special actions but also contributed to our long-term effort by renovating our temporary shelter in Miskolc.

↑ evopro contributed to the preparations for implementation of the school community service. Engineers of the company created an innovative website to make the coordination efficient.

↑ Philip Morris has made a lasting contribution to our work: a playground and a development facility for our Soroksár centre.

↑ Thanks to the Danish Lego Foundation, we could distribute the largest ever Hungarian LEGO donation to child-care institutions, bringing joy to almost 15,000 children.

↑ 4th partners' meeting; strong bonds even at the time of crisis.

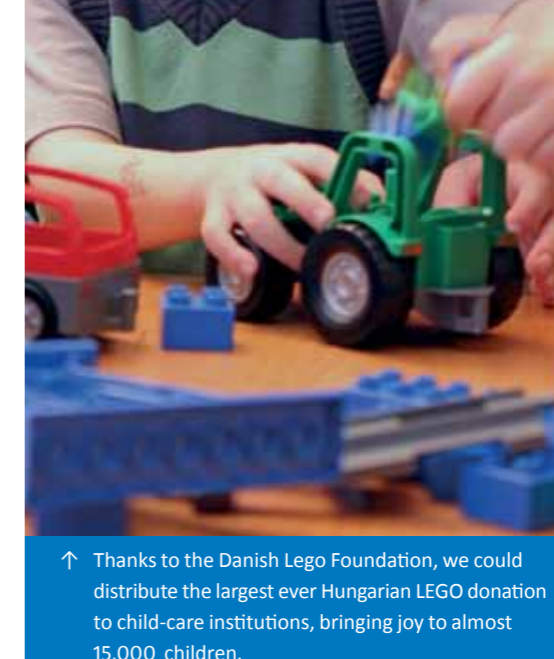

↓ Cervical cancer prevention programme: Partnered with GlaxoSmithKline, 200 disadvantaged girls and mothers could receive vaccines in 2012.

↓ Whirlpool Hungary equipped a number of our facilities with state-of-art household appliances again in 2012.

↑ Béres continued their donation programme in 2012: we could provide 5,000 bottles of Béres drops to those in need in this year.

↑ Thanks to the Danish Lego Foundation, we could distribute the largest ever Hungarian LEGO donation to child-care institutions, bringing joy to almost 15,000 children.

↑ Fast-response aid from the Vodafone Humanitarian Fund was required to finance the special aid actions in the coldest days of winter.

The growth of our support community is based on trust. Trust is based on transparency.

One of the core values for our organisation is transparency, guaranteed by regular KPMG audits meeting the most exacting international standards. Donors and partners who provide their contact information receive regular reports on the use of the donations. To increase transparency, Hungarian Interchurch Aid implements a uniform system for individual and corporate pecuniary donations:

Donations are used...

with 85% directly going to the funding of the action designated by the donor. All of our projects have individual identifiers, so THE APPLICATION OF THE FUNDS CAN BE TRACKED!

with 9% going to the funding of direct costs of the aid programme(s), TO MAINTAIN THE PROFESSIONAL, TRANSPARENT AND SUSTAINABLE NATURE OF OUR EFFORTS!

with 6% going to feedback to donors and also on community and communication activities encouraging active social solidarity SO THAT MORE OF US COULD HELP!
